

ROSWELL DAILY RECORD.

VOLUME 8.

ROSWELL, NEW MEXICO, THURSDAY EVENING, JUNE 30, 1910

NUMBER 101

TERRITORY APPORTIONED

Judge William H. Pope returned last night from Santa Fe, where on Tuesday afternoon, as Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of New Mexico, he attended the meeting at which the governor, Hon. Wm. J. Mills, the Chief Justice and the Secretary, Hon. Nathan Jaffa, apportioned the territory for representation at the constitutional convention, as provided for by the statehood enabling act of Congress. By this apportionment, based on the vote of 1908, Chaves county has four votes in the constitutional convention.

It was arranged that Governor Mills should issue the call yesterday for the election of delegates to the constitutional convention. This election was set for Tuesday, September 6. This was the earliest date that could be set, as it has been called in regular form and the boards of registration have to be named in regular form by the county commissioners sixty days before said. The county commissioners meet in regular quarterly session July 5, and they can name the boards of registration at that time, which gives two months before September 6. The convention itself, will then meet on Monday, October 3.

The apportionment was made upon the vote cast in 1908. The law provides that the convention shall be made up of 100 delegates, chosen from the various counties in proportion to the vote cast, which was 55,880 for the whole territory. This gave a unit upon which to work of 558.8 votes for each constitutional delegate. In other words for every 558.8 votes cast, a county was entitled to one representative in the constitutional convention. When this apportionment was made, it was found that the convention was several votes short of 100, and the additional delegates were given out to the various counties having the largest fractional number over an equal division by the unit of 558.8.

Following is the table of counties, the vote each cast in the election of 1908, the number of votes over when the total was divided by 558.8, the number of delegates this division gives each county, and the last column, which is the column that counts, shows the number of delegates each county will actually have in the constitutional convention:

MR. ARTLEY AND MISS NELSON ARE MARRIED.

In the presence of a crowd of about thirty-five of the relatives and closest friends, Mr. Will Harrison Artley and Miss Eva Nelson were happily married at 8:30 last night. The wedding took place at the home of the bride's parents, Col. and Mrs. J. M. Nelson, on North Main street. Elder C. C. Hill conducted the service, which was most beautiful, though simple and without unnecessary form.

Ferns, palms and cut flowers were utilized in decorating the parlor and living room, where the guests were assembled, and in a conspicuous place in the parlor was arranged a huge bank of palms, ferns and other greens before which the couple took their places for the ceremony.

As the guests arrived they were served punch by Misses Marie Lewis and Goldie Shreder. It was with promptness that the wedding march was sounded by Miss Elizabeth Skipwith, and to the beautiful tones of Lohengrin's march, the couple stepped to the appointed place, joining the bride's father, who was there in waiting. With the bride standing between her father and the man of her choice, the minister positioned himself before them and conducted a most beautiful service, uniting the lives of two of Roswell's best young people. The service was opened and closed with prayer. The bride was given away by her father, and the ring was the symbol of union utilized in the service.

Miss Nelson wore a beautiful creation of cream messaline, with real point lace trimmings, and carried carnations. The groom was in black. Both tall and handsome the two young people made a striking appearance.

After the ceremony congratulations were given and received and the young couple read the many telegrams of congratulation that were received. Ice cream and cake were served while the guests viewed the presents, which were numerous and beautiful. Mr. and Mrs. Artley went at once to their new, cosy home, recently completed on Washington avenue, between Third and Fourth streets, where they are now at home to their friends.

VICTORY FOR RAILROADS

Washington, June 30.—The announcement was made this afternoon by the Interstate Commerce Commission that it would not suspend the official classification, No. 36, involving more than six thousand items, which was filed to become effective July 1st.

This declaration is regarded as a victory for the railroads.

For nearly a month the commission has been overwhelmed with protests against the proposed new classification of freight. Many shippers seemed to entertain the opinion that the rearrangements would result in largely increased rates, but only 58 changes were involved, of which 28 were reductions and thirty advances.

The territory affected is all of the country north of the Ohio and east of the Mississippi river.

Freight rates on lumber and forest products from Omaha to points in Colorado, Kansas and Nebraska were reduced today by the Interstate Commerce Commission. The reductions ranged from half a cent to four cents per hundred pounds. The rates become effective September first.

HARVARD TAKES TWO BOAT

RACES FROM YALE.

New London, June 30.—A clear sky and smooth water prevailed this morning when the first of the varsity races between the Yale and Harvard crews, the eight oared Freshmen, was called and this was won by Harvard by three lengths. The race was over a course of two miles. The race was a hard one, in which the crews alternated in the lead for more than half the distance. The son of Secretary of War Meyer, who was present, was a member of the Harvard Freshman crew.

Harvard also won the four oared race by four lengths. Yale led to within a half mile of the finish.

Harvard's dual victory this morning quickened her expectation of winning the big varsity race this afternoon and repeating last year's record of a clean sweep.

A breeze which sprang up during the morning may make it necessary to put the varsity race off until a late hour this afternoon.

Later:—Harvard won the varsity boat race this afternoon from Yale by four lengths.

REST DAY; STRENGTH

The lecture by Dr. Thomson at the Methodist Church, south last night was well attended. The audience was well pleased with the address. Following the singing of America, Prof. Brierley sang a helpful solo and Dr. Fowler offered a prayer.

Mayor Veal presided and said he considered it an honor to present to the audience a man of so widely known ability and influence as Dr. Thomson.

Dr. Thomson rejoined by saying that he appreciated the liberal advertising his lecture had received by the churches, public and city press, and also to be introduced by the mayor. However, he was accustomed to associate with such classes. He said, "When recently in Phoenix the governor of Arizona presided. When in Washington the Secretary of State presided."

Dr. Thomson is president of the Arlington Heights Female College at Fort Worth and foremost director in the Sunday League of America. When delivering several addresses he covers the whole scientific basis for rest day keeping, but in one address he discusses two phases only.

He showed how one of the fundamental principles of American government is the protection of a rest day. The constitution of the United States protects it. The statutes of the thirteen original states protected it. The government of the White House protects it. The law of legal transaction protects it. Our fathers recognized a constitutional law of our being that demands it. John Stuart Mills, who could not be accused of over-religiousness, by careful investigation found the factories of England that worked six days turned out more work and a better grade than those working seven days.

The people that obey these God-given laws, which are in harmony with man's good, cannot be overthrown, but when otherwise the reverse is true. The pagan Sunday of Rome, with its excitement, theatricals, debauchery and lust contributed most to her downfall. Spain lost her opportunities for permanent glory much because of her debauched Sunday. The reasonable number of hours for study and thought in the Sundays of twenty-one years equal those of a classical college course. Quiet Sunday means thought and power.

England has ever guarded her rest day. England controls the world's money market and 65 per cent of the world's trade.

During a decade in California without Sunday law her population increased 30 per cent, while crime and pauperism increased 100 per cent.

Since Benjamin Harrison every president has been a member of the Sunday League.

Dr. Thomson told of the recruit in the army at Omaha, who refused to attend target practice on Sunday, because his mother would not approve of it. He was arrested, court-martialed and sentenced to hard labor and reduced pay. When the League carried the case to the War Department, they were told that a soldier must do what he is ordered to do. Obedience first. They appealed to President Cleveland. A telegram signed by the President went to Omaha:

"Release private. His salary shall not be withheld. Arrest and court martial Colonel for ordering target practice on Sunday."

He spoke of the Anglo-Saxon ideas of right and righteousness to influence the world through England and America and that the same kind of Americanism should have recognition as her basic law, essential to permanent well-being, in the new state of New Mexico.

The speaker is an orator and a man of wide scholarship and ability. If in Roswell again, he will receive a large hearing. Closing he told of the work of the League and its educational building at Ft. Worth. He asked for membership and subscriptions and received generous response.

INSTITUTE TO HAGERMAN

The Chaves County Teachers' Institute held its last regular session and business meeting this morning and, as announced as probable in the Record yesterday, voted to take the next annual meeting to Hagerman, instead of holding it in Roswell as always done heretofore. It was not a unanimous sentiment, however, to take the meeting away from the county seat, for the vote that carried the proposition was 37 to 20. And it must be remembered that Roswell received the vote of 20 with none of the regular city teachers there to defend the city.

The vote was taken after remarks; and "what was said was a plenty." The undercurrent showed that Roswell was the natural place for the institute, considering its accommodations, central location, etc., but additional to this was the feeling among some that "Roswell felt a little too big to give notice to so small a thing as the teachers' institute," as one member said in a speech in which he was plugging for Hagerman. Dexter and Lake Arthur were placed in nomination for the next meeting place but did not receive seconds.

The resolutions of the meeting had been adopted and showed no bitterness over Roswell's lack of attention to the visiting teachers, for such a lack of attention did exist. They are given in full below.

The teachers showed a very friendly feeling for County Superintendent C. C. Hill by presenting him with a set of silver back military hair brushes, the presentation speech being made by A. F. Adair, of Hagerman.

This was the first time such a thing has been done in the history of the county, and speaks for Supt. Hill's popularity.

Farwell speeches were made by the conductor, Prof. J. H. Vaughn, and instructor, Prof. Dickey. Both were highly complimentary in speaking of the teachers of Chaves county. Prof. Vaughn left today for his home. Prof. Dickey will be here several days.

The examinations will be held tomorrow.

The Resolutions.

The Institute of Chaves county is about to close, thus ending one of the best institutes in the history of the county.

Therefore, be it Resolved:—First, That we, the teachers of Chaves Co., having been associated with and instructed by Conductor Mr. J. H. Vaughn for the past ten days, take great pleasure in expressing our appreciation of him as a man and as an able instructor.

Since he has labored so diligently and so profitably to extend him our best wishes for success in all his efforts and hope it may be our good fortune to have him returned to us in the future.

Second:—To Mr. Dickey we heartily wish to express our thanks for the enthusiasm manifested, his kindness and courtesy at all times. Our best wishes follow him in his new field of labor.

Third:—To Supt. C. C. Hill, we wish to express our appreciation of his untiring efforts. His smiling face, genial welcome, great enthusiasm, helpful advice, and real interest in both teachers and schools eminently fit him for his position.

To the voters and others interested in the advancement and progress of the schools of Chaves Co. we commend him to your earnest consideration as an able and efficient Supt.

We heartily endorse him for the effort put forth to push the 8th grade promotion, thus giving to the rural schools some definite aim and an incentive to higher education.

Fourth:—Furthermore, we wish to thank the committee on music, Misses Childress, Brown, Kinsinger and Mr. McLaughlin, also, the ladies Misses Steadson and McGraham, who have rendered readings through whose kindness we have been provided with diversion from time to time. The entertainment they have provided being greatly enjoyed by all.

Married by Rev. Fowler.

Mr. Hank Woods and Miss Louise Storey, young people of this city, were married at seven o'clock last night at the home of Rev. George Fowler, on North Kentucky avenue, the ceremony being performed by Mr. Fowler in the presence of only the necessary witnesses.

Another marriage will occur at the home of Mr. Fowler tonight, when Mr. Bens and Miss Edith Troutner will be united.

BETTING, 10-6 ON JEFF

Reno, Nev., June 30.—Every man that enters the arena next Monday is to be searched for weapons by deputies appointed by the sheriff to guard the big battle.

Sheriff Fennel made that statement today and added that there will be no half way searching done. His men will not be satisfied with slapping the hip pockets, but will make sure no gun is packed by the fans. The only armed men in the building will be the deputies.

Declaring that he would not work out in the presence of Joe Woodman, manager for Sam Langford, Jack Johnson personally ordered Woodman out of the grounds at the champion's training camp today. The feeling, it is said, dates back to the time when Johnson boxed with Langford in an exhibition several weeks ago. Woodman at that time caused quite a turmoil by offering to put up money that Langford could beat Johnson if the two were matched for a real fight. He has since declared that Johnson is afraid to meet Langford.

Johnson first sent a deputy sheriff to tell Woodman to leave. Woodman refused to do so. Then Johnson himself went out to Mr. Woodman. In a quiet and courteous tone he said, "Now I ask you personally and as nicely as I know how to go away. I don't want you around the camp."

"Why should I go?" asked Woodman. "This is a public hotel."

"You know what rests between us," returned the champion. "You know why I don't want you around here. I ask you again to go."

Johnson then went back to his rooms.

"Well," said Woodman, "rather than cause trouble, I'll go."

He got into his machine and went back to the city.

The champion did eight miles of road work before ten this morning, and returned laughing, laughing, in fact, is the one distinctive feature of Johnson's camp.

After Woodman had gone away, Johnson worked out before a moving picture machine.

At the Jeffries' camp there was absolute peace. The former champion arose at his usual hour and after his breakfast went off on a fishing trip with Jack Wooley, an old friend.

"And when Jeff goes fishing, he goes fishing," said one of his trainers. "He doesn't think of fighting or training, or anything else."

The general impression around the camp was that Jeff would not do a tap of work today.

Charlie White, of New York, yesterday selected as the second referee, arrived here this morning.

San Francisco, June 30.—The betting odds on the big fight remain at ten to six on Jeffries, to which price they lengthened yesterday. There is no lack of Johnson money.

Chicago, June 30.—Ten women enthusiasts held reservations on the "fight special," which left last night for Reno. There were more than two hundred men in the party.

U. D. C. Meets Tomorrow.

The U. D. C. will meet tomorrow at 2:30 p. m. with Mrs. Chas. Brown on N. Washington, etc.

SALOONS LAST DAY

This is the last day of the open saloon in Roswell, for two years at least. The licenses of the six dram shops of the city expire at twelve o'clock tonight and the sale of liquor within the city limits of Roswell becomes illegal at once, and will no doubt continue so as long as the present administration remains in control of the affairs of the city, for it was elected on a prohibition platform, and the members themselves are in favor of prohibiting the sale of liquors within the city of Roswell. So Roswell remains a "dry" town until other provision is made by city ordinance; and that will not come before another city election is held, and probably not then.

With the last few years Roswell has changed from a typical, all-licensing western town, to one of the cleanest, most law-abiding little cities in the United States. Just five years ago, licensed gambling was swept away by the Hinkle administration. Four years ago the same administration brought about the elevation of the saloon license from $400 per year to $2,000 per year, and this cut the number of saloons in the city from thirteen to six. Two years ago upon the advice of the Richardson administration the licensed bawdy houses went out of business, and now goes the licensed saloon.

All these evils are recognized evils. The success in keeping out the two first evils mentioned has been remarkable. It remains to be seen what success will come with the attempt to prevent the sale of liquor in the city. That it will be a greater success here than in a great many places is admitted even by those who opposed prohibition, for all recognize the fact that Roswell is a law-abiding city. The friends of prohibition predict freely that they look for a strict enforcement of the law, and those in power to enforce it, say they will satisfy the public entirely on that point. At least, the liquor traffic will not have the endorsement of license, and will have the stamp of disapproval of the law.

For several days the saloons of the city have done a thriving business. The trade in "drinks" over the bar has been abnormally good, but far in excess of that has been the trade in bottle, case, jug and even keg and barrel lots. Everybody who likes "a little now and then" in his own home has been laying in a supply to carry him over the summer months. Mysterious looking bundles have been seen on the streets in a conspicuously large number. It is said that some of the saloons of Roswell will be pretty well sold out by night, and that altogether there is not enough liquor in all six local dram shops to stock one up-to-date saloon. Bargain day on booze doesn't come often and couldn't be passed up by some people who do not drink a drop.

The buildings now occupied by the saloons, will likely be empty for a while. The slack business of the past several months makes a condition that will prevent the buildings being filled at once; but they will no doubt be filled by other business concerns before a great length of time. One place has already been rented and another is rented for the first of the year.
